Reflection for Pentecost 11 C ~ Luke 13.10-17

This healing story sums up, in a way, the whole of Jesus' message. Jesus wants us to have life in its fullness, and sets out to free us from everything that holds us captive. This means sickness, but also human attitude and judgements which imprison or constrict us. Here, it is the distorted religiosity of the synagogue leaders, who insist that even healing needs to be regulated according to Sabbath law. Jesus attacks the absurdity of their arguments, and puts them to shame.

The Pharisees seemed always to look outwards and found fault; Jesus looked inwards and found possibility. I pray that I may be able to look on the world outside and on my own interior life as Jesus did recognising where God's Spirit is calling me to life. www.sacredspace.ie

THE COMMON CUP

Following the reinstatement of the Common Cup communion may now be received in both kinds. However, intinction (the act of dipping the bread in the wine), is not permitted. There will be some who do not yet feel able to share the Common Cup, and will choose to continue receiving in one kind— this is entirely and appropriately, a personal choice.

Reflection for Pentecost 12C – Luke 14.1, 7-14

We live in a world that has many honour lists, where positions of importance can be sought and cherished, where the temptation to popularity has much scope. The value system that has much prominence is at variance with that of Jesus who was meek and humble of heart. This was the humility that led to his glory.

The kind of humility Jesus is talking about here was described well by a former Archbishop of Canterbury, William Temple: “Humility does not mean thinking less of yourself than of other people, nor does it mean having a low opinion of your own gifts. It means freedom from thinking about yourself at all.”

SINGING UNTO THE LORD

Our hymns and what they say.

Every Sunday, we sing as loudly and joyously as we dare. What are these hymns that we sing? Why do some of them speak to us so deeply? What do they tell us about how we know God?

Starting on Thursday August 25th at 2:30pm Bill Leadbetter will help us learn more about the origins of some of our favourite hymns and what they have to say to us.

All Welcome!
