Reflection for Pentecost 3C - Luke 9:57-62

Today's gospel reading sees Jesus 'sifting' some of the applicants who wish to follow him, much as an employer evaluates candidates for a job or position. Does the candidate 'have what it takes'? Jesus here puts his finger on a number of attitudes which might be a reason for rejection!

For Jesus, the task is urgent and all-embracing. The bar has been set very high. The urgency of preaching the Kingdom requires an immediate response from the candidate, who has no time to bury relatives, or even to say goodbye properly. For a Jewish culture which took burial of the dead seriously, and which held the family in high respect, these are strong words from Jesus.

Jesus' response to the first would-be follower is that – before deciding to follow Jesus – he should first count the cost What about my own call to be a disciple? Does my own story reflect anything of Jesus' dramatic style? Perhaps my call to follow Jesus has been costly, in terms of my family and other close relationships? ### Reflection for Pentecost 4C - Luke 10.25-37

Jesus the Teacher is approached by many individuals. Some are genuinely seeking God and wish to do better. Others, like the lawyer of today's reading, is 'testing' Jesus. It is possible, of course, that he is in good faith; he may also be a genuine searcher, but simply more cautious and suspicious than the others who come to Jesus.

The religious officials in the story - the priest and the Levite - fail the test (probably the fear of ritual impurity prevents them from responding as neighbours to the stricken man). Meanwhile, the Samaritan, an ethnic and religious outsider, is the hero.

What is striking is how Jesus seems to 'raise the bar' when he is speaking to individuals. When he preaches generally to the crowd, he invites and encourages. But to the individuals who offer themselves, or ask further questions, he challenges them to go that bit further. Is this my experience of being a Christian? Where do I find myself being 'stretched'?

COMMON CUP

As of June 16 Archbishop Kay has granted permission for parishes in the Diocese of Perth to return to the practise of receiving Communion in both kinds with the reinstatement of the Common Cup. However, intinction (the act of dipping the bread in the wine), is not permitted.

While for many of you there will be celebration and relief as we return to this Communion practice, there will be some who do not yet feel able to share the Common Cup, and will choose to continue receiving in one kind— This is entirely and appropriately, a personal choice.

COVID SAFETY

Please continue to observe hand sanitising and safe food handling protocols. Whilst masks are no longer mandatory you are encouraged to wear one for your ongoing protection.

Baby Theo is to be baptised by Revds. Pat & Dave at the 9.30am service on Sunday 10 July. Nicole and Graeme invite you all to join with family in sharing the hope and joy of this very special day.

Many thanks to those who have helped in this way for so many years.”
